

APPLICATION FOR FINANCIAL AID

The University of Iowa
Film Studies Program

Deadline for submission of this form: January 11, 2008

The following types of financial aid are available:

University of Iowa Fellowships are four-year packages awarded in University-wide competition, including two years on fellowship and two years on teaching/research assistantships, with monthly stipends and full tuition scholarships for twelve months a year. The Department nominates students for U of I Fellowships on the basis of GRE scores, GPAs, and letters of recommendation.

Graduate Opportunity Fellowships are awarded to exceptionally qualified minority students. They carry a first-year fellowship stipend and full tuition coverage, plus a teaching/research assistantship appointment for at least one additional year.

Teaching Assistantships involve teaching or assisting with film studies and production courses, foreign languages, or freshman rhetoric. They pay approximately $8,000 for a one-quarter-time assistantship, twice that for a half-time assistantship. In addition, they cover the out-of-state portion of tuition and fees.

Research Assistantships involve assisting a faculty member, and entail ten to twenty hours a week of service. Research assistantships pay on a scale similar to teaching assistantships.
