

1.) IOWA NEWS: "Stories suggest Iowa senior exodus," by Mark Siebert (_Des Moines Register_, February 9, 2004).

<http://desmoinesregister.com/news/stories/c4788998/23483439.html>

2. US CENSUS BUREAU COMPENDIUM: _2003 Statistical Abstract of the United States_ (.pdf format, 1030p.). Note: Individual tables can be most easily found by referring to the Index to find table numbers, and then finding the table(s) of interest in the table of contents, which is listed by table number. _Statistical Abstracts_ going back to 1995 are available at the site. _SA_ is linked to from a Census Bureau news release: "From Spuds to Duds, New Statistical Abstract Has It All" (Feb. 12, 2004).

<http://www.census.gov/Press-Release/www/releases/archives/miscellaneous/001681.html>

Click on "Statistical Abstract of the United States: 2003" for links to full text.

3. LANCET_ RESEARCH LETTER ABSTRACT, FEATURE: Note: Lancet requires free registration before providing content.

A. "HABITS (hormonal replacement therapy after breast cancer--is it "Boom in Latin American and Caribbean elderly population," by Michael McCarthy (_Lancet_ feature, Vol. 363, No. 9407, Feb 7, 2004, HTML and .pdf format, p. 458-459).

HTML:

<http://www.thelancet.com/journal/vol363/iss9407/full/llan.363.9407.news.28668.1>

pdf:

<http://pdf.thelancet.com/pdfdownload?uid=llan.363.9407.news.28668.1&x=x.pdf>

4. AARP ARTICLE:

a. "Population Aging: National Differences Make a Difference," by Martha Farnsworth Riche (AARP Global Aging Program Perspectives, January 2004).

<http://www.aarp.org/international/Articles/a2004-01-15-globalperspectives.html>

b. AARP Global Aging Perspectives:

http://www.aarp.org/international/Articles/a2002-10-17-international_perspectives.html