

COURSES TAUGHT

013:011 Elementary German I

Designed to develop the ability to understand and speak everyday German, to develop reading and writing skills, and to get to know the German-speaking world through discussions, readings, and videos.

013:012 Elementary German II

This course is essentially a continuation of 013:011, which is designed to develop the ability to understand and speak everyday German, to develop reading and writing skills, and to get to know the German-speaking world through discussions, readings, and videos.

013:013 Intensive Elementary German

Standard first- and second-semester courses combined. Extensive out-of-class assignments. This course is designed for both undergraduate and graduate students who desire an intensive German course (including those with no previous study of German).

013:014 First-Year German Review

This is an accelerated course for students who have had two or more years of high school German and placed below the third-semester level in their placement test. Preparation for third-semester German.