

2008 Iowa Flood Clean Up

Dear Neighbors and Friends,

This spring has been a particularly challenging period for those of us living in river communities throughout Iowa and neighboring states. Our thoughts are with those directly impacted. Many of us have been affected and are anxious to return to work. Since 1852, VWR International has been there in times of need, providing products that aid in the safe, cost-effective cleanup after natural disasters. Thankfully the clean up process has begun and the safety of all those involved is paramount.

VWR is a full line distributor of safety and laboratory products and has personnel in the community to assist you with the selection of products that meet your specific needs. You might find the attached list of products helpful in determining the items needed for cleanup. VWR will provide $100 of free product on your initial start up order to each customer to aid in cleanup efforts or to get your laboratory back in operation. To receive your free materials please contact one of the representatives listed below.

We appreciate the opportunity to partner with you during this challenging time. Please be safe and protect yourself during this process.
